TAUMAFAI — 1975

LEONE HIGH SCHOOL

To everything there is a season . . .

a time to win,

a time to love,

a time to heal,
a time to break down,
and a time to build up,

a time to embrace,

a time to dance,
and a time to speak,

a time to plant and a time to reap,

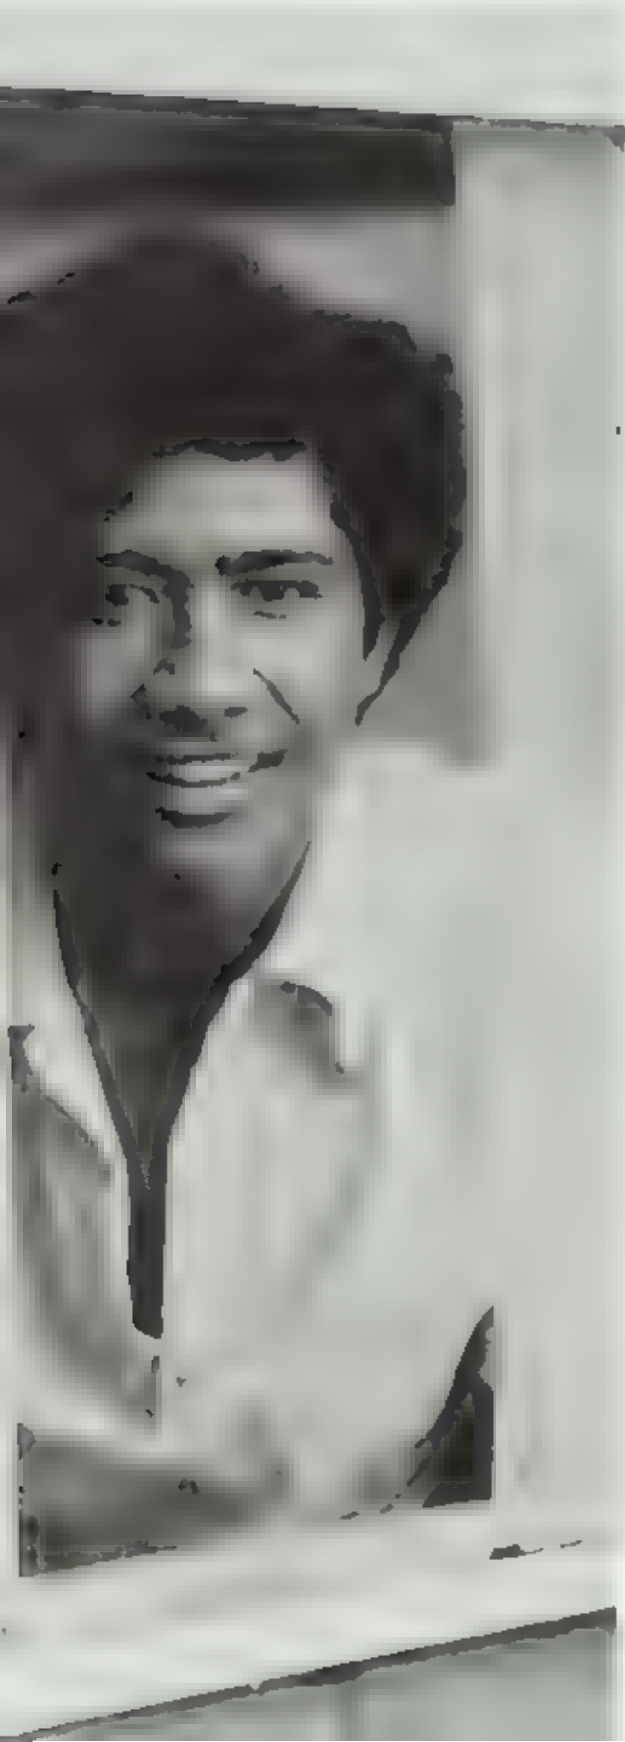

a time to laugh,

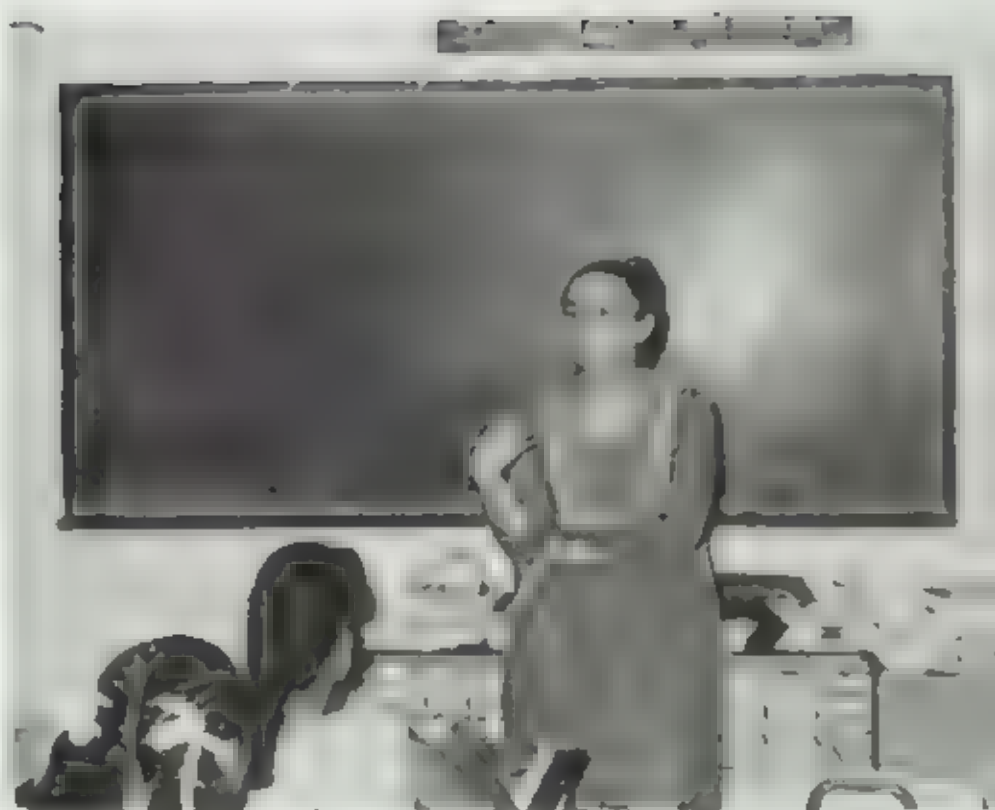

and a time of peace,

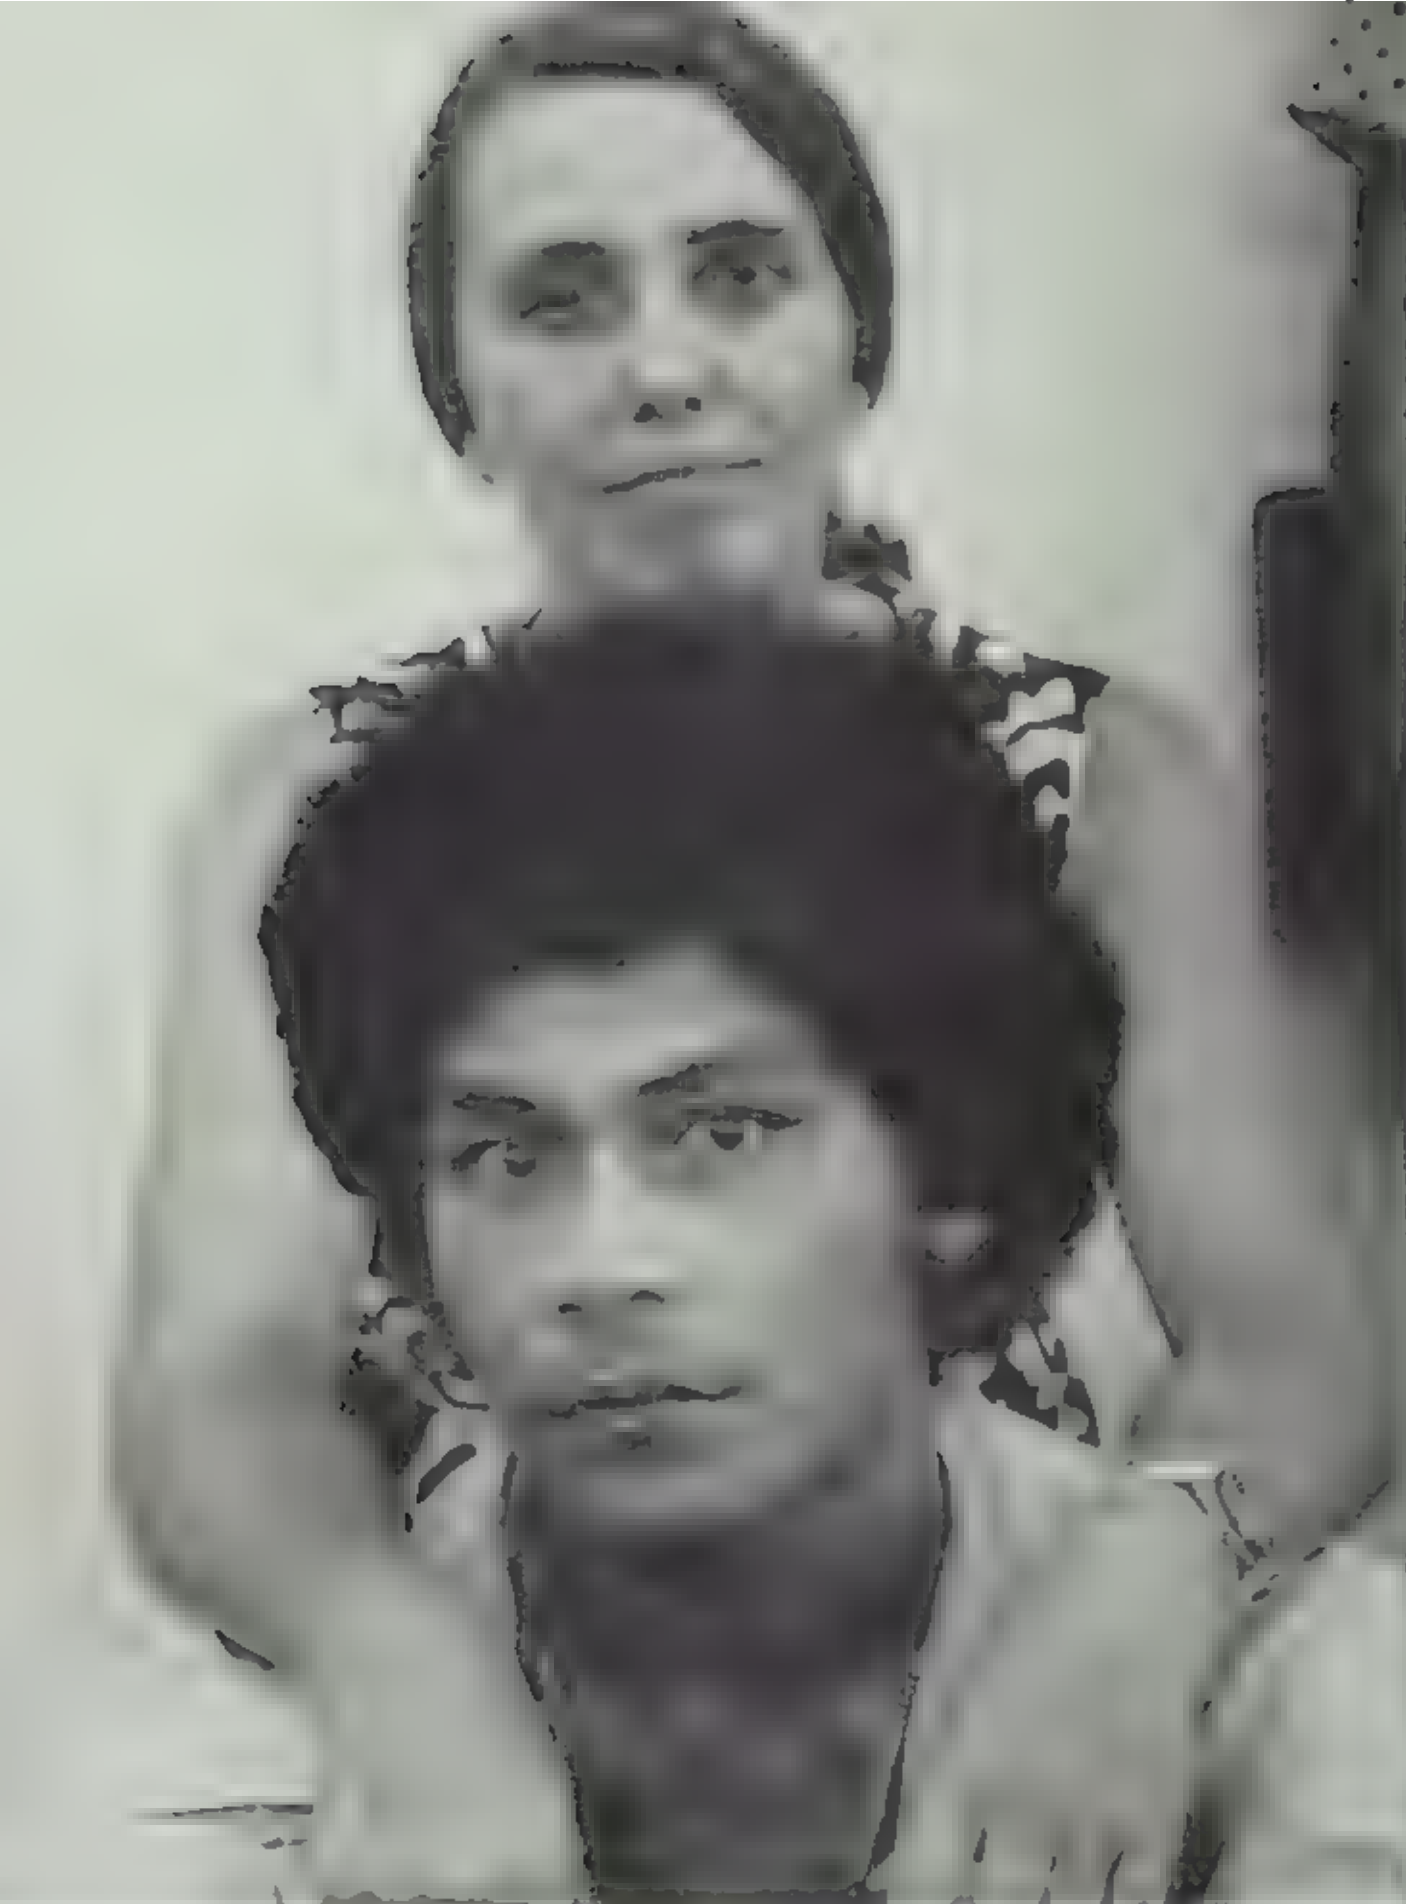

and a time to write about our year at Leone.

We dedicate the 1975 TAUMAFAI to Sunny Bratt, a lively English teacher here at Leone. This is Sunny's fifth year in Samoa and she is still ready with a smile or a skit.

Sunny is involved in many school activities. She has been an active class advisor helping with bake sales and other fund raising events. She has worked on floats for Flag Day and the Fono dedication. She has worked hard to involve students in the Speech Festival, and last year Sunny was island wide chairwoman for this important event. She is involved with drama productions and just about everything else that matters at Leone.

Sunny's energy and spirit set a good example for teachers and students alike. This is the second year in a row that Sunny was voted "Most Popular" female teacher by the graduating seniors.

We think it's time to give her some recognition. We know Sunny's good wishes go with the graduates. And theirs go with her.

Malo, Sunny.

RIGHT The Board of Regents for 1974-1975

The Department of Education is charged with the responsibility for educating the youth of Samoa. Under the leadership of Mrs. Mere Betham, the Department has attempted to improve the system while maintaining lower expenditures in a time of tight money and a slow economy. The Department is also studying ways in which they can meet the growing needs of students in the future.

Senior Class

Dear Seniors:

I remember when you entered first grade twelve school years ago, September 1963, our country was just talking about instruction made possible through the use of television, and television itself was a new word not fully understood by many Samoans, then. Television now has become a household word for both young and old in Samoa.

The Community College has been established and it is my sincerest hope that you will take advantage of this opportunity so you can become better citizens, able to make wise and educated judgements necessary for shaping the future of our country as well as that of your younger brothers and sisters who are yet unable to exercise the rights that you, because of age have attained.

Many other new ideas and changes will be introduced, some good and some bad. Whatever the influence of these new ideas and changes will have on you, may I impress upon you the extreme importance of realizing that in a world that grows smaller every day, the rich legacy of our Samoan cultural heritage and language ability cannot and must not be ignored. The need to modernize, as in many developing countries, has been combined with the recognition that the cultural heritage of the people must be perpetuated.

May God bless all of you and all your future endeavors.

Ia manuia,

To: Graduates of 1975

I am deeply honored to have this rare privilege to convey to you my sincere thanks for the good job that you showed to the Leone High School teaching staff. I have to say that the success of this school is now in existence because of the good cooperation from the individual students and teachers. I believe that the key to success in human endeavors is "cooperation".

The graduating seniors may soon leave the home of the Lions and your good will may be remembered for a long time. I am hoping that the returning Lions for the next school year will assist the administrators and teachers in creating a good learning atmosphere for others.

Leone High School

My fellow students,

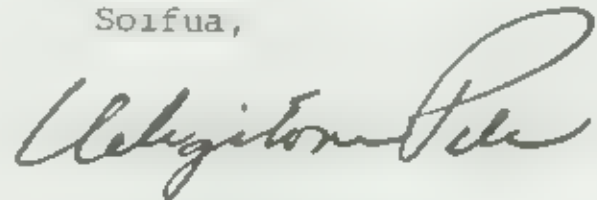

My thanks to the yearbook staff for giving me this privilege to extend my congratulations to the seniors of 1975 of Leone High School. You and your parents can and should be proud that you have completed the requirements for your diplomas.

High School is only the beginning. First we learn how to learn. We either continue to learn as long as we live or enjoy living less and less.

All graduates, I'm sure, realize that you owe a great deal to your teachers and high school administrators who have helped you during your student days in this school. A teacher creates a better world through his students. In many cases, your parents have made sacrifices to assist you in your efforts to complete your high school education. I hope that the majority of you will live and work for your country, one of the best places to live in the Pacific.

To you students of Leone High School, we wish for you to continue learning. In the home, in school, and in church, each must do his best to create a better world.

Soifua,

Administrators Work Hard

The administrators at Leone High School are all people who have worked here before. The principal is Teokila Aasa. Vice-principal is Lui Tuitele, and we have two counselors, Juliette Tufa, and Senio Salavea. This year these administrators worked to provide continuity and efficiency in the running of the school. They tried to create a good atmosphere for learning and the free exchange of ideas. Joe and Lui provided the leadership and our counselors worked to communicate with students, so they could take advantage of all opportunities in the educational process.

The three ladies of the office have done a tremendous job this year. They have kept school records in order, and they keep the clerical work from becoming a mess. The office manager is Faatamalii Letuligasenoa. The length of her name is the length of her job overseeing the various office functions. She is assisted by Hilo, a clerk-typist, and Ana, the secretary. All three girls are there for routine office jobs, counselling, minor repair, and friendship. They do an excellent job of keeping the school in the best of shape.

We Can Help

Students usually work alone in the library, although at times they may come in as part of a class. Working alone, students learn to tackle problems requiring independent research. And the library is a good place for reading and quiet study. The students are fortunate to have a reliable librarian in the person of Emma Pen. Emma has four years of library experience, and this is her first year at Leone. She always enjoys helping the students in any way she can. Stop in and look around.

The lunch crew and bus drivers have important jobs. They work every day to provide essential services for the school. Although we sometimes forget how important their job is, we do remember if there isn't a lunch or if a bus doesn't show up. We appreciate their dedication and service, even if we don't always say so.

Our faithful custodians have worked a long time to keep the Leone campus a pleasant place to be. Our custodians work many hours to keep classrooms clean. After each school day they come around to work. And before school you will see them cleaning up. They put in a long day. And they have been successful for the most part, because our campus is clean and attractive.

The Science department this year is under the direction of Mike Hitchcock, a new teacher at Leone. Mike and his crew have refurnished the department somewhat and they introduced a few new ideas. With a minimum of equipment, they have performed many experiments to demonstrate scientific methods. And they took advantage of local possibilities by going on various field trips. Courses vary from physical science for entering freshmen to chemistry and physics for those who are capable of advanced study.

BELOW Gary Olson tries to prove that the new math is easier than the old but he doesn't seem to be getting it across.

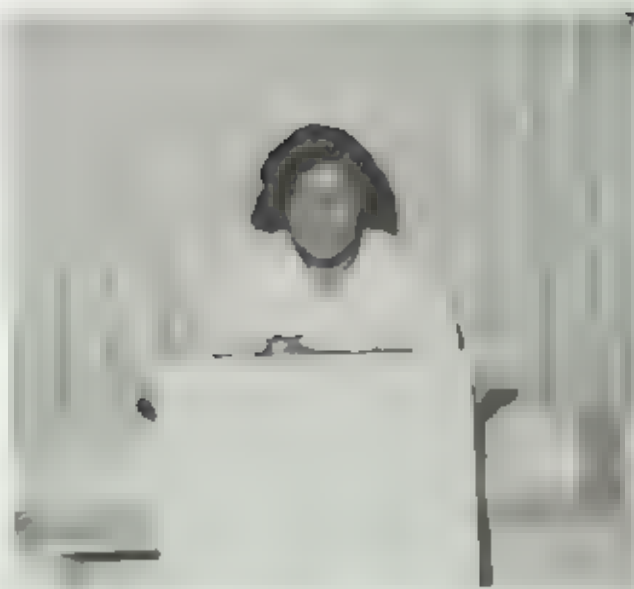

The Math department has worked to give students a working knowledge of the metric system, as this will become the universal standard of measurement in the future. Under the chairmanship of Gary Olson, students were able to take advanced math courses such as Calculus to prepare them for university level work. The "numbers" game is alive and well at Leone. Now, if only we could find those lost books.

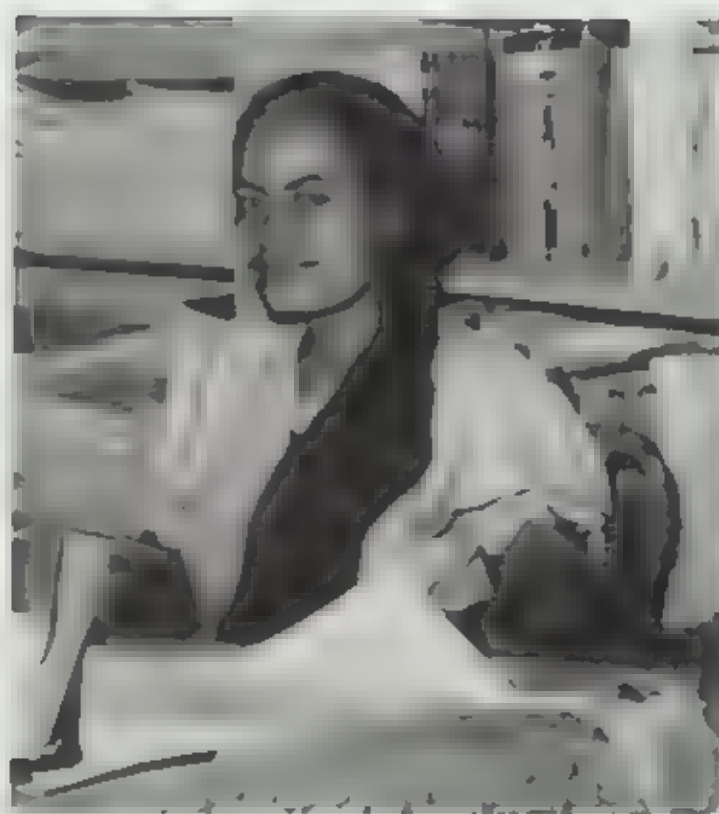

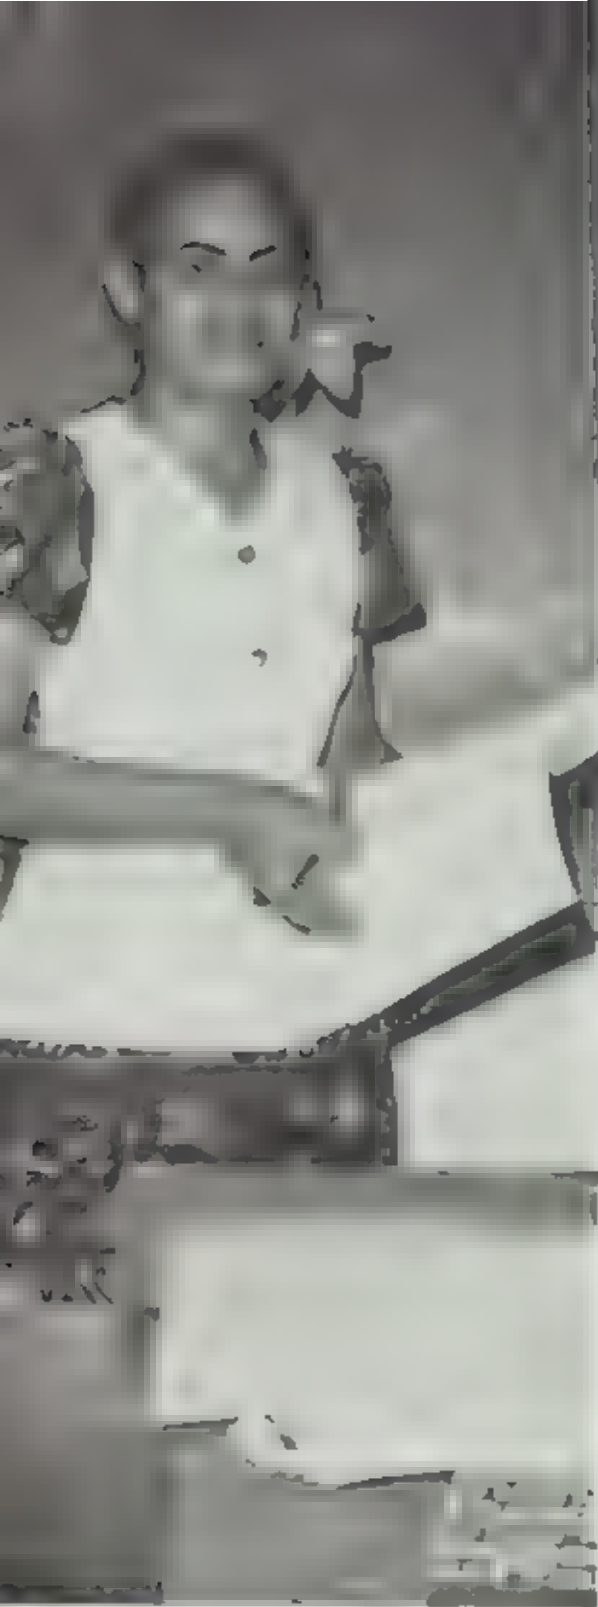

English is the largest department at Leone. Chairman of the department is James Meaole, who works to keep things running smoothly. There are a number of new teachers and they have all tried to give the students a knowledge of English that they can use in the working world and at college. This year the English department improved electives that were added last year to allow students ample room to broaden their education. In addition to the basic core classes, students may take Speech and Drama to improve their speaking ability. And they can apply their working skills in classes such as Journalism, Creative Writing, and Yearbook. The island-wide Speech Festival is under the sponsorship of English department personnel.

Most students follow through the sequence of World history, U.S. history, and Government. Many senior government students participated in Youth Government Week to observe firsthand the working of our local government. Social Studies also includes Samoan Language and Culture. This course is designed to familiarize freshman students with the customs and traditions of Samoa.

The Business department offers several new courses that have become popular with students. In addition to typing and general business courses that were offered last year, the department added Accounting and Shorthand. These courses, together with Office Practice and Business Machines, provided business students with a very strong background and valuable skills that they can use after graduation. Business courses continue to be popular and quite useful for those seeking employment.

Physical Education builds better bodies. In P.E. students acquire coordination and the skills necessary for sports. Both boys and girls are required to take one year of physical education, but they may take more than that. They may also participate in varsity sports to keep the Lions strong. A course in Health is open to those who wish to be aware of such things as good nutrition, disease and health.

Art Promotes Creativity

Art started late this year, and it's a one-woman show. We had difficulty finding an art teacher, but we did get one finally. She is Fran Gorton. Fran worked to "catch up" and work with students in different forms of art. Although the art department doesn't have an excess of supplies, both the students and the teacher have done quite well with what they have. Leone has some artists who usually win in the Art Festival each year. And next year should be better than ever.

Homemaking and Industrial Arts are allied subjects. All girls take Homemaking and boys take Industrial Arts. Girls can learn basic skills as sewing and cooking. Boys can learn carpentry and electricity as well as mechanical drawing. Advanced courses are available in both areas for those who want further study. In the latter part of the year, a Homemaking and Industrial Arts Fair is held to display things that students have made in these classes.

The freshman class was not very active this year. It was a year of adjustment for the newcomers. These new students were able to relax and get used to the pace and demands of high school. We have a large freshman class this year and we think they will be active sophomores.

Our Junior class is one of the most active in our school. Juniors are in the groove and they work hard in all activities. They held a number of fund raising activities to get money for the Junior Prom and the graduation exercises which they give for the seniors. Their council meetings were lively, and most members took a strong interest in student affairs. These juniors are hard workers and they have earned the right to become seniors for the class of 1976.

Seniors are proud of how far they have come since they were freshmen. In the span of four years, many changes have taken place at Leone. And seniors were in on many of them. The young freshmen are now mature seniors, ready to graduate and go out as representatives of Leone. Malo lava.

The seniors worked hard to present a great Senior Ball. They leave the juniors with a good example to follow. The Senior Council was active because they had to make a lot of decisions this year. They have done a good job and we wish them a prosperous and successful future.

ORGANIZATIONS

it to Print

The Journalism class worked very hard to produce the LEONE LION each month. The staff always included the latest news from around the school as well as island news. A number of people on the staff worked overtime during lunch and after school to assemble the paper.

The advisor, Jane Ann Quinn, taught the students how to produce a newspaper. This includes such things as reporting, layout, justifying copy, editing, and the time-consuming job of getting advertisements from local merchants. We appreciate the efforts of the LION staff to bring the news to Leone.

Science Club

The Science Club has been involved with California high schools in a project of sending shells for their investigation. Some members are actively seeking pen-pals among science students in California. Another project the members had was to acquire slide rules to help them solve problems in science classes. And students have met to discuss the ecology problems of Samoa and possible ways to solve them. Mike Hitchcock is the advisor of the Science Club this year.

The Explorers Club is under the guidance of Derek Fortin. Members of this organization are interested in many things, but their primary interest is to explore places and come to know their immediate environment. The members may learn such things as kung fu or swimming, and they may go on trips around the island. The club has planned several exploring trips this year, one of which is a trip to Aunuu.

The Spanish Club is another new club at Leone. Students who have had or who are now taking Spanish are eligible to join. The advisor is Gary Bowne, who teaches first and second year Spanish. Members of the club engaged in a few fund-raising activities, and participated in a speech contest. They also enjoyed practicing Spanish and they held a year-end "fiesta" to celebrate the end of school.

Soccer Club Kicks Off

The Soccer club is new this year at Leone. Although many students play soccer as their free time, there was no school league. Now students can participate in this exciting sport and play against other schools. Rick Hantz is the advisor for the Soccer Club. His boys are all new but they have shown great skill and promise so far. We have already played in competition, and it looks like we will have more people in the club next year. There is a possibility that it will become a varsity sport, and a lot of people look forward to that.

The National Honor Society has a tradition of service. membership in the society is by acceptance of the committee. New members are selected from students who have at least a 3.5 average. These students must petition for Membership. Upon acceptance, they must maintain a high academic average in order to remain in the society. The National Honor Society is engaged in various service activities in the school. The advisors are Pita Suiaunoa and Faafetai Hunkin.

The creative writing class is relatively new. Last year was the first time this course was offered at Leone, but already its influence is being felt. Last year's class put out the first edition of a magazine and this was called THE LION'S BITT. This year the magazine will come out about the same time as the yearbook, but the new name is still a secret. The students in this class have been working hard to make this year's magazine a first-rate effort. We look forward to seeing it.

Magazine Stirs Creative Interests

The people at TAUMAFAL are a busy bunch. In only two years since 1973 they have doubled the size of the yearbook. (We hope it doesn't get much bigger. And along with the size increase, there have been other changes. In almost every category the coverage has been expanded. Yearbook students are aware of the amount of work necessary to complete the book for an early deadline so we can all get it before the end of school. Yearbook students worked after school and on Saturdays to get it all together. Do you like it?

The Cheerleaders this year were very energetic supporters of the mighty Lions football team. These girls learned new cheers and spent hours practicing so they could develop new routines. You could always hear the "lung power" of Leone at the games, under the leadership of Lolesio Sefo and Lima Aumoana. Carol Golembeski was the advisor for our cheerleaders this year.

The Pep Squad of Leone is the power behind the lines. These girls work with Sunny Bratt and provide volume to back up the cheerleaders with their yells during games. The pep is strong and our football teams enjoyed good support from the Pep Squad and from students. It was a good year for voices. The officers for the Pep Squad this year were President Haisa Faiai, Vice president Faasamoa Sipolua, Secretary Fiatele Pagofie, and Treasurer: Vaaafi Epenesa.

There were about nine individual categories, and also dramatic presentations and choral readings. Approximately three hundred students participated in all. The Leone students who entered did a good job of representing our school. The winners in each category appeared on local community television. Leone scored very well again.

Leone Leads Youth Government Week

Youth Government Week gives island juniors and seniors a chance to observe firsthand the workings of various government departments. Students spend one week in different departments observing and learning. At the end of this week, elections are held and students take over government departments for the final day. At week's end, a banquet is held and awards are given to the office-holders. This year Leone was fortunate to have the governor, Etuale Tuileta; the Director of Port Administration, Isaako Atalau; and the Commissioner of Public Safety, Ailao Matagiese. Leone students learned a lot from this observation.

On October 11, 1974, Leone held an Open House to acquaint the parents with the school and teachers. Parents toured the campus and witnessed various classes. Lunch was served, along with sandwiches and drinks for a snack. In the afternoon there was an assembly during which freshmen entertained with a faafiafiaga. After school the Lions played against the Fagairua Vikings. Unfortunately we lost. However, most people considered the Open House a huge success.

Let Us Entertain You

We have had a nuber of assemblies at school this year. Some were held for important events, such as student elections. Others were held simply for entertainment, to let students relax and enjoy something out of the classroom. The assemblies also gave students a forum from which they can present speeches, dramatic skits, songs and dances or class competitions. It's all a part of learning.

The Christmas assembly was a combination of songs, skits, and a dance. The Chorus sang a number of Christmas carols under the direction of Motu Veavea. The Samoan Culture class also provided an interesting dance sketch. Then the Drama class presented a funny Christmas play, with Santa having all sorts of difficulties in Samoa. After lunch, a dance was held in the hall. Many students enjoyed the music and siva before breaking for Christmas vacation . . . a pleasant way to end 1974.

The 1975 Senior Ball was a great success. The dance was held at the Malaeimi Hotel, and a capacity crowd enjoyed the music, entertainment, food and dancing. The theme of this year's ball was Barry White's "You're The First, The Last, My Everything" and the theme song was "We've Only Just Begun." Music was provided by the sensational Tumua Band. February 7th was a night the seniors will remember for a long time.

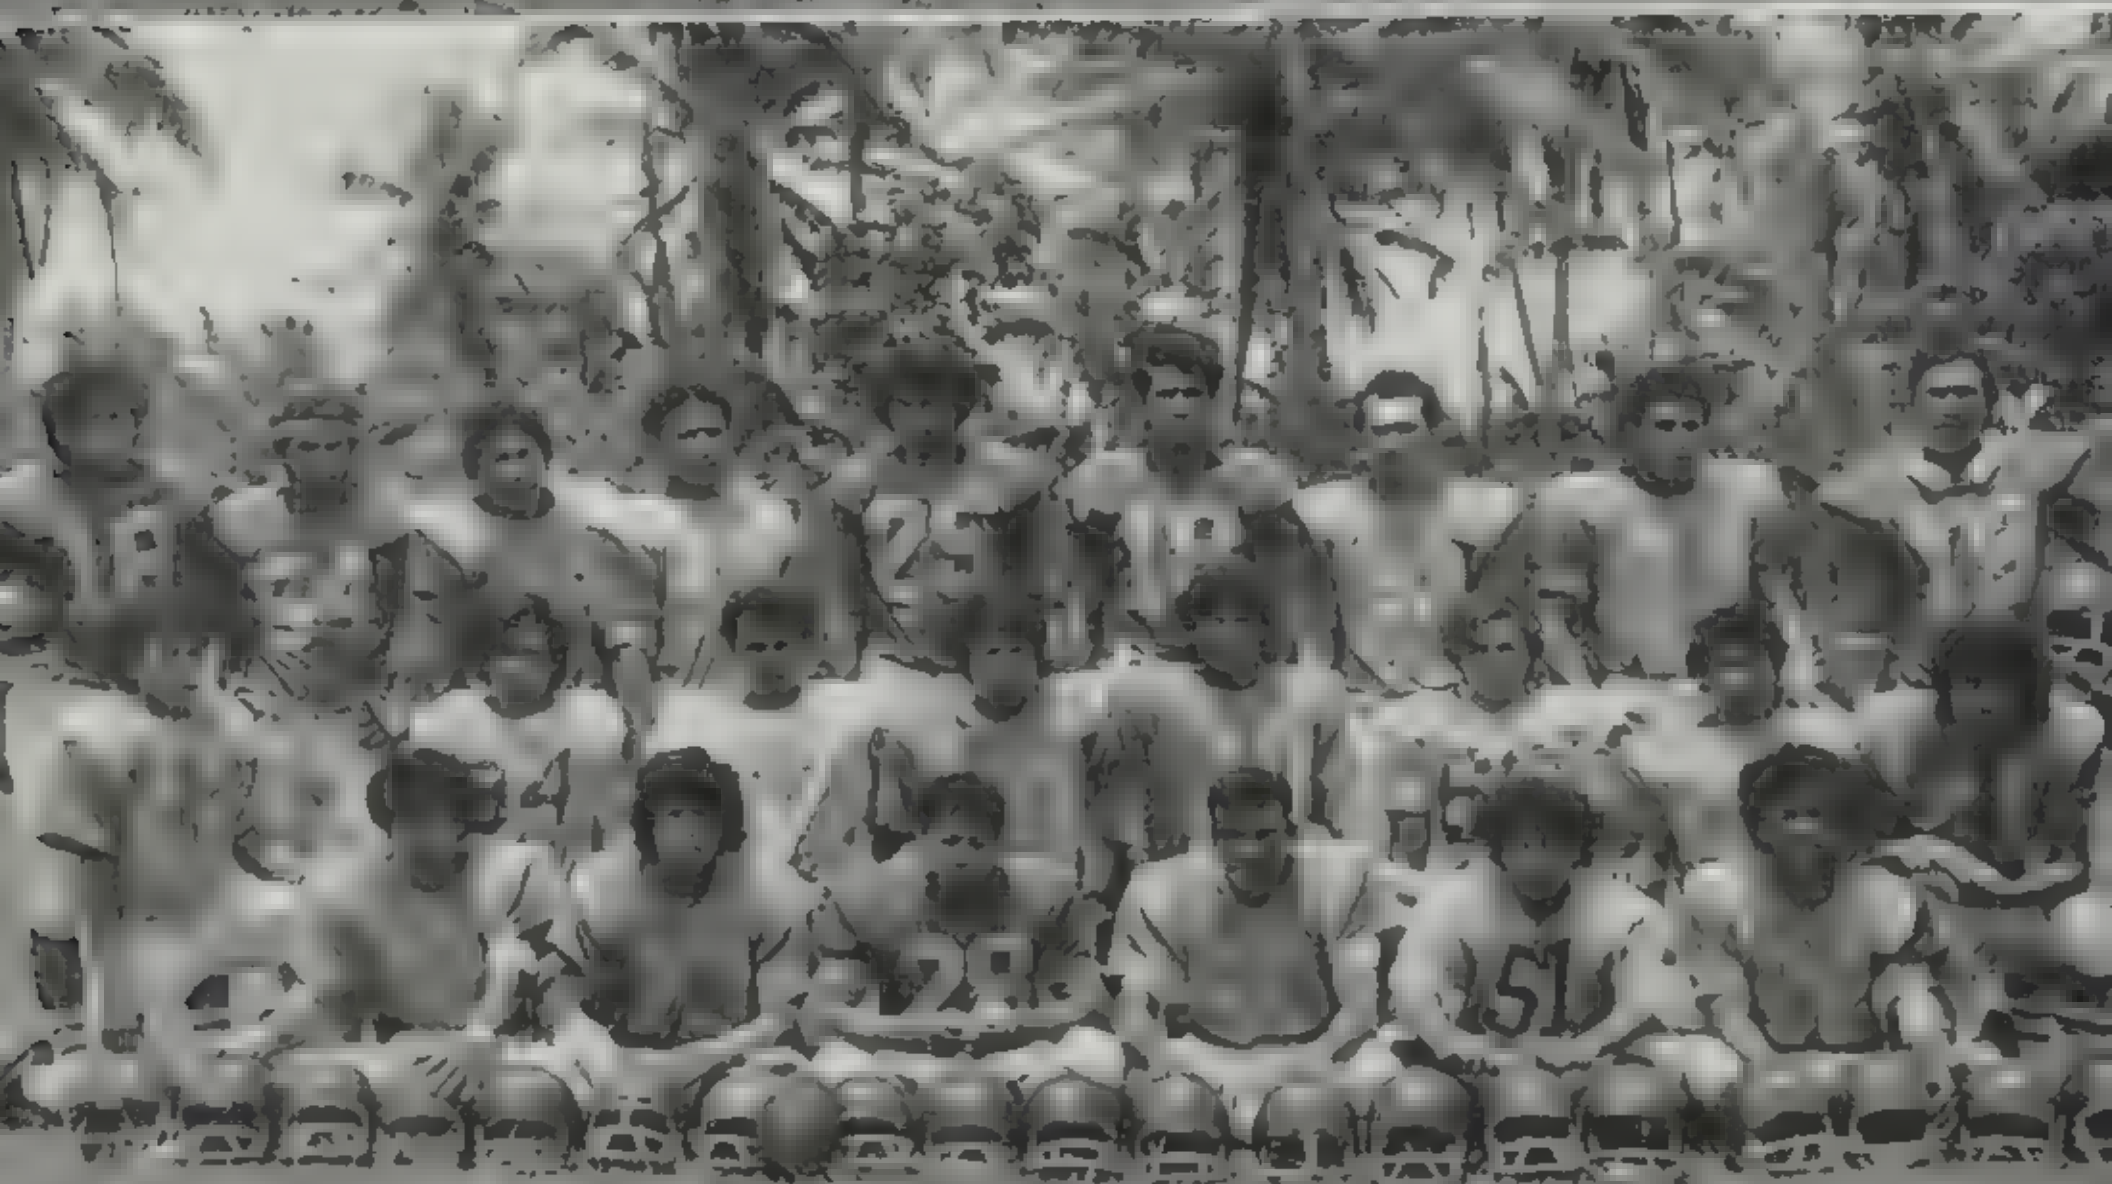

The highlight of the evening was the crowning of the king and queen. The judges deliberated for quite a while and finally decided on Vaitifou Taatagaloa as queen and Isaako Matautia as king for the 1975 Senior Ball. The king and queen led their guests to a buffet dinner. ## The Season

The mighty Lions football team had quite a lot of spirit this year. They started out slow, with two losses. Buy they finished strong, winning four straight with high scores. In victory and defeat, the team showed good sportsmanship. Leone finished second in the league, but they hope to better that next season. The Lions provided spectators with plenty of action during the season, and what our boys lacked in size, they made up for in strength and determination.

This year all basketball games were held in the new gymnasium in Pago Park. Under coach Po'oai Ripley, the boys tried to improve their game over last year. Other schools gave our team competition but the boys overcame most of it. They gained a lot of experience and we hope to have a few players returning next year. The basketball season did not look promising at first but the Lions surprised their opponents with some fancy footwork. And of course they boys looked fine in their uniforms.

Many girls tried out for basketball, but coach Ron Lapala chose the top ten girls to be on the team. As with the boys' team, all games were held in the new gymnasium. The girls went at it with a lot of spirit and enthusiasm, and they gained experience throughout the season. The girls kept posting win after win, keeping other teams on the defensive. And in the end, these girls brought it all home for Leone.

Soccer — Something New Under the Lion Sun

1975 was the first year for Leone to field a soccer team. Originally the Soccer Club sponsored games and the team. The club generated a great deal of interest so they deserve some publicity. There was no official league, but the boys worked hard learning and playing against other teams. Soccer seems to be catching on again - it's about time.
